GREEN THUMBS OR A HOBBY

Gardening may be for pleasure or food. It matters little what our reason is for digging the soil, among shrubs, flowers or just common spuds. We may wear gloves and get a little backache because our thumbs are not green. To all it will mean getting close to the ground. Life starts over anew in April. The first pussy willows have been on our window sill for some days past. The fence lines are looking green. For weeks we have been going over beautifully colored catalogues. The bright delicate colors of the sweet pea, peony, gladiolus, marigold, dahlia, astor, pansy or poppy, has been reflected in our eyes. The smooth shape of the juicy vegetables we are going to harvest make our mouths water.

The wild prairie rose, "Rosa acicularis," Alberta's floral emblem, decorates the front of a small folder. It is put out by The Alberta Horticultural Advisory Committee for all gardeners. This booklet recommends the varieties of fruit, shrubs, trees, vegetables or flowers that will do best in this zone. Early, medium or late, you have your choice. It will tell those best suited for storage and freezing as well as prize winning. It is a valuable guide for all, glove covered hands or those with green thumbs.

Recommendations for planting trees and shrubs, tell when to plant preferably spring. Keep roots moist and protected from wind and sun until planted. Dig holes large enough to hold roots without crowding and permit plants to be slightly deeper than before in the soil. In dry soil use liberal amounts of water, soft water always gives better results. Press the soil firmly to eliminate spaces which cause drying out of roots. Leave a small depression for water.

Annual or perennial flowers, those suited for border or rock garden are listed for your choice. There are so many varieties of suitable flowers, doubles, singles, or Japanese Peonies. Miniature, pompons or exhibition dahlias are listed in all shades. Iris, gladiolus with delicate shades of color will tempt your resources.

Vegetable varieties, behavior unknown, trial, fair or known to be suitable, are so clear to the green thumbs, but somewhat confusing to the hands with gloves on. At the fall flower and vegetable show the best will be marked with the red tags. Some gardeners like to show what they have grown, others like to have them around the home.

The best way to plant your farm shelterbelt is also given freely to you. Summerfallow the land to be planted, space the rows two feet wider apart than the width of your cultivator. Then you are more likely to have success, because you will keep the ground between the rows black. Trees should be six to eight feet apart when planted. They can be thinned out later. Allow at least 100 feet between the shelterbelt and the buildings. Those who have seen the snowdrifts, after the recent blizzard, will know why this is necessary. Trees and shrubs suitable for your shelterbelt are listed in the rose covered book.

Beautify your home and garden, protect it with shrubs and trees. Tie the house to the ground with shrubs placed near corners. Make it more attractive, more pleasing. Give your home charm.

My window looks out over a town playground. There are some hedges and a few scattered trees

RED SKELTON has always claimed that he is loved madly by children and dogs. This, at least, proves half of his rash statement. The dogs appear with Red in his next comedy, "Excuse My Dust." It's possible that the pooches are hovering around to demand a raise of an extra bone for their week's work.

CROSSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Ed. Myers is back in Crossfield after spending the winter in Calgary.

Don't forget the bake sale which is being sponsored by the FWUA on May 12 from 2 to 5 p.m. in the community hall.

The East Red Cross group of the Red Cross met at the home of Mrs. Elsie Stewart with 13 members and seven visitors present. Work was passed out and a quilt finished. During the afternoon Mrs. Cochrane read a letter from her daughter Evelyn, nurse who flew to Kadova, Alaska, in which it was stated the official opening of the hospital would be on May 12 in open house style. The next meeting of the East group would be on June 6 at the home of Mrs. Merl Laut. A very delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Stewart.

The Cancer drive in the East is well under way according to a report from Mrs. Konshuh of East Community.

Petition Successful Plebiscite June 14

BEISEKER — The Beiseker and District Board of Trade has received a letter from Mr. E. E. Maxwell, Supervisor Municipal Hospitals, advising them that in response to their petition submitted recently the four townships east and west of Beiseker described as Township 28 in Ranges 24, 25, 26 and 27 have been included in the Calgary Rural Municipal Hospital District.

It is expected that a plebiscite on the hospital question will be held over the whole area on June 14th next.

BEISEKER ACTIVITIES IN BRIEF

The Beiseker district is very pleased to have local talent well able to compete with outside points. Recently Larry Leiske won in a piano solo in the Alberta Festival in Calgary. Joey and Margaret Wright won in piano solos at the Western Star children's festival in Calgary, and Gene Reifsnider won in a vocal solo at the Trochu Music Festival.

Seeding in the Beiseker district will be general by the middle of this week. Threshing had got off to a good start just before the last heavy rain, when Beiseker's rainfall was two inches, and will be held up for some time.

Mr. Wilson who has been the section foreman at Beiseker for two years has been transferred to Delacour. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and family left last Saturday. He has been succeeded by Mr. Grandi of Swalwell. It is expected that his family will arrive early in the week.

Adam Berreth is the proud owner of another Welsh pony. He has purchased this one from the U.S. for breeding purposes, and those who have seen it say that the pony is very pretty and weighs possibly from 175 to 180 pounds. Adam has had very good success with his ponies, and it will be a thrill to see them in the stampede parade.

Quite a number of the Beiseker men attended the K. of C. initiation in Calgary last Sunday. Twenty-five of our young men received their degree. A K. of C. Council will be formed in Beiseker in the near future.

The Lions Variety Concert has been postponed once again.

Final Red Cross donations will be given in next week's edition of this paper.

Mr. and Mrs. A. MacKinnon of Stettler spent last Sunday in Beiseker visiting her mother, Mrs. Schissel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Zacher, Calgary spent last weekend in Beiseker.

We hear that Mrs. Harvey Gibson, Calgary passed through Beiseker last week, and stopped for a short while on her way to attend lodge at Three Hills.

The Beiseker park has been seeded with grass seed, and the men are very glad that this was

THREE DAY RAIN DELAYS FARMING OPERATIONS

Agriculturists report that the three-day rain of last week was generally welcomed by farmers throughout the province.

Rain at this season promises a good crop year. Although it delayed both seeding and threshing, farmland was provided with a good supply of surface and sub-soil moisture, giving crops a chance to develop more quickly.

Precipitation in the province varied. Calgary reports 1.9, Red Deer 2.68 and Whitecourt, west of Edmonton, had 2.38.

done before the last heavy rain. It will not be for lack of moisture if the grass doesn't appear soon!

Mr. Alfred Hagel has been employed by the Crown Lumber Co. in Beiseker and commenced work last week.

Don't Complain Later

Albertans have been doing lots of talking about taxes lately, despite the fact few of us have any real idea of actually how much taxes contribute to our cost of living.

The cost of what we buy always includes a lot of taxation and it is going to include a lot more taxation if the present plan is adopted of amending the Constitution so that the provincial governments can levy a hidden sales tax of up to three per cent.

This is supposed to be for the purpose of financing old age pensions, to be paid by the Provinces to those in need, up to the age of seventy. Of course, no one reminds the public that the Province of Quebec has said that since it now levies various Sales Taxes, it would not use this plan, or that the Province of Nova Scotia says that it does not need this 3 per cent, or that the Provinces of British Columbia and New Brunswick say that 3 per cent would not be enough, or that the Province of Alberta, with its enormous revenues at present, does not require this additional source.

Anyway, if this amendment goes through, any time the provincial government decides it wants more money it will be able to raise the price of goods by three per cent.

All that will be done will be to fix things so that Albertans will pay more taxes to the extent of 3 per cent of all the money which they spend, and will be able to forget that they are doing this because the tax will not show on their invoices or sales slips.

When this tax goes into effect, up goes the cost of living.

If you or any other Albertan have any intention of protesting against the increase in the cost of living which this tax will bring, now is the time to complain.

Farm Labor Scarcity

There is a growing scarcity of farm labor in Alberta mainly due to the higher wages and shorter hours for city workers, and the provision of workmen's compensation, medical aid, pension payments and unemployment insurance. Farm workers do not qualify for such benefits.

O. S. Longman, provincial deputy minister of agriculture, says as a consequence of the tight farm labor situation farmers are going in more for wheat production and the production of grass-fed cattle which require a minimum amount of labor and provide maximum returns. There is a downward trend in dairying, hog production and poultry production on Alberta farms.

Mr. Longman mentioned that in 1949 city workers in Alberta received $7,600,000 from unemployment insurance and the workmen's compensation board.

The Home and School

Provincial gathering of the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations in Edmonton this week raises an opportunity to ask parents of school children whether they know the teachers of their children and the officials that operate our schools.

It might be worthwhile to mention the importance of the Home and School Association, an organization which is closely identified with the progress of education here. This organization can be a potent force in building public support for Alberta education.

We have no hesitation in advising parents of pupils attending the public schools to join the HSA, to attend its meetings and to co-operate with other parents in keeping informed about our school system and in persuading the public to give liberal financial support to build the best possible school system.

Note and Comment

It often happens that men who talk too much, think too little.

What has happened to the proposed Trans-Canada highway? No project is more urgently needed than this for the defence of the nation.

If Conscription Comes

(From Toronto Daily Star)

Reassuring statements on the subject of military conscription have been made by two members of the federal government since the current session of parliament began. Early in the session Prime Minister St. Laurent asserted that compulsory military service will be considered "strictly on its merits" as a means of furthering national preparedness, and not on any racial or religious basis. A few days ago Milton Gregg, V.C., minister of labor, stated that he would never be a party to legislation that created two classes of service men, one of them popularly (or unpopularly) known as "zombies" in the last war.

Mr. Gregg made it clear that his pronouncement was a personal one and as such does not commit the government. Though Mr. Gregg occupies the labor portfolio, he has a splendid record of service in both world wars and it can be taken for granted that his advice on general recruiting policies carries considerable weight in the cabinet. It is perhaps unlikely that, at this critical time he would make any public statement on military matters which would be out of line with government thinking and intentions. It may be thought, therefore, that if conscription becomes necessary in Canada it will be invoked without any limitations as to the area, in which draftees may be required to serve.

No political party except the small Social Credit group has taken the stand that compulsory military service is advisable now and the Social Crediters advocated it only for the reserve forces. Their motion was voted down by 146-15 in parliament. Outside the Social Credit ranks it won the support of only four Progressive Conservative members and one Independent. Aside from the near-unanimity on the question, the most noteworthy feature of the debate was the lack of acrimonious exchanges and accusations which the subject would certainly have evoked only a few years ago.

At the outset of World War II, the Mackenzie King government felt it necessary in the interests of national unity in the conflict to give its assurance that conscription would not be imposed. As the war picture darkened, a plebiscite was held on the question, the result releasing the government from its "no conscription" pledge. Compulsory service for home defence was inaugurated. When, in 1944, draftees were sent overseas as infantry reinforcements, a cabinet crisis was precipitated and it was freely predicted that the government had lost any chance of ever carrying Quebec province again. Instead, the Liberals won Quebec by big margins in the next two general elections.

The evidence is mounting that conscription is no longer a serious disruptive issue. This augurs well for a greater degree of national unity than ever before in meeting the heavy tasks imposed by menacing world conditions. There is every reason to hope that the ideal of a truly united Canada, to which Laurier and King dedicated their lives, may be realized during the term of the administration headed by their political heir, Louis St. Laurent.

Do We Need More Rain?

Dr. Irving Langmuir of the General Electric Research Laboratories in Schenectady, New York, is convinced that man can create artificial weather.

Dr. Langmuir has been successful in producing rain on many occasions. Best results were obtained in a test in New Mexico in the summer of 1949. He said, "We started at 5:30 a.m., using a smoke generator with burnt charcoal pellets, impregnated with silver iodide. At 10:10 a.m. the first flash of lightning appeared. By the end of the day we had worked 13 hours, used $13.40 of the compound and produced 320 billion gallons of rain."

The basic idea in Dr. Langmuir's rain making is to select clouds that are "super cooled" to below zero temperatures, and that also contain appreciable amounts of water in the form of droplets too tiny to freeze. If enough of these droplets merge at one place they freeze solid and fall to earth as rain or snow, depending on weather conditions.

To produce this effect, particles of dry ice and silver iodide are used. The particles serve as "seed" to which water droplets will attach themselves until enough gather to form ice crystals. Theoretically the crystals will "trigger" an atmospheric chain reaction that will produce legions of other crystals.

HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER

Dear Sir—A lot of U.S. people are saying they would be sorry if there should be any worsening of Canada-U.S. relations as a result of a recent speech by our Mike Pearson. The U.S. shouldn't worry about anything like that; practically all of us are with the U.S.A. 100 per cent. No other two nations could be as alike as we are. We dress alike, talk alike, hear the same radio programs, see the same movies, and visit one another by the millions. It just makes me laugh when some official decides to worry about our being anything but friends. Why, that U.S.-Canada border is the most useless thing in the world and always will be.

QUICK MOVE FOR UN

Dear Sir—While the United Nations delegates are sitting safely in their fine new building in New York, accomplishing nothing but doubletalk, our boys in Korea are still dying—for what, they do not know. So far, UN hasn't even decided who started it. I suggest that the whole UN move over to Korea; that might make them think faster.

IGNORANCE MISLEADING

Dear Sir—In a recent Voice letter M.L.S. of Killam explained to Veterans who wars take place under Liberal administrations but pleads ignorance to the facts. Very much against their will the present war was forced on a Labor government and the last two wars were forced on Conservative governments, and Canada like a red-blooded son of the Motherland came to her assistance, so M.L.S. will have to find another solution as we cannot kick out the British government.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

Dear Sir—That reader who wrote in and said the Catholic church doesn't stand for religious freedom doesn't know what he is talking about. If he doesn't like the Catholic religion let him keep it to himself. Nobody says he has to be a Catholic. Belong to any religious organization you want—that's religious freedom!

Drumheller. A CATHOLIC.

COST OF LIVING

Dear Sir—Ottawa federal ministers are saying food prices rose only half a point or so in March. Yet some taxes were doubled in the federal budget and, of course, costs will be passed on to the consumer. And what's happened to the living costs in April? If they haven't risen at least four points I'll eat my shirt!

KING JAMES VERSION

Dear Sir—Does not Mrs. M. Watson of Morrin, who in reply to F. J. McNey's remarks stated that the King James version of the Bible was the only perfect Bible, know that the King James version is far from perfect?

The version varies greatly from the original Greek, which, alone can be regarded as a perfect Bible, if any.

The King James version was translated by a group of men under threat of losing their lives if they made any translations which would conflict with the Church of England teachings.

Alberta Legion Resolutions Call For Conscription, Pensions, Soldier Benefits

Increases in war veterans' pensions, a compulsory scheme of military training, and benefits to Special Force soldiers similar to veterans of World War II, are among recommendations to be considered by Alberta branches of the Canadian Legion at the next provincial convention.

A resolution passed by the Montgomery Legion branch of Edmonton calls upon the Dept. of Veterans Affairs and the Canadian Pension Commission to investigate treatment of mental patients.

Delegates to the provincial convention will also consider a resolution that Special Force Soldiers should receive clothing allowance and thirty days leave with pay on discharge, and be entitled to all other benefits afforded to veterans of World War II on discharge from the forces.

Due to the rising cost of living, which is increasing at an "alarming" rate, war veteran allowances should receive a boost equal to the "persistent" rise, according to another resolution.

The provincial convention which will consider these and other resolutions will be held in Lethbridge in June.

A resolution dealing with the government's defence policy will ask for compulsory military training, along with other schemes to strengthen the defence of Canada.

Just Because Girls 'Cute' They Shouldn't Be On Stage Dancing Teacher Warns

CALGARY. — (BUP) — Just because little girls look "cute" in fluffy dancing costumes doesn't mean they should be on the stage, according to a Canadian dancing teacher who ought to know.

Gweneth Lloyd, one of the founders of the Winnipeg ballet, gave parents here some tips on what their attitude should be toward the dancing lessons of their young offsprings.

"Parents who send their little Susie to dancing school just to see her strutting her stuff in a dance recital have the wrong idea about dancing," she said. "Dancing should be studied for its own sake and for its educational value, and not necessarily for performance."

Miss Lloyd remarked that in 13 years of teaching in Canada, she had never held a recital.

She described dancing as important for a child's education because it develops self-confidence, rhythm and musical appreciation.

The study of different types of dances is followed naturally by geography and other studies and makes learning fascinating and easier, she said.

As for putting small children on the stage, Miss Lloyd said the theatre is for the best only and the public would never learn to appreciate good dancing "as long as inadequately trained performers are allowed to play."

Miss Lloyd commented: "There

Phonetic Learning Best Method, Mrs Gregg Says

BEISEKER — "Teachers should dress in 1889 clothes if they are using old teaching methods," Mrs. Tillie Gregg told a meeting of teachers in Calgary. She was criticizing methods of teaching reading and spelling.

Close to 700 elementary teachers from Calgary and district, including Beiseker attended the reading institute sponsored by the department of education.

Children are taught to read by a combination of five methods. First he is taught to expect to get the meaning out of what he reads. Second is the word form, what it looks like and its length. Then he must understand the sound that rises in his mind when he sees let-

Prizes Presented To Bridge Winners

BEISEKER — The Beiseker Ladies' Bridge Club held their final party of the season Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Lou Brosteaux.

Instead of the usual evening's bridge it commenced with a dinner bridge with all the subs included making four tables instead of the usual three.

A very enjoyable meal and session of bridge was had and to close the evening lunch again was partaken of with the distribution of prizes to the winners of the evening at this time. Prizes were very prettily decorated in flowered paper to give one the feeling that spring is really in the offing, and as the winners' names were called they could choose their own gift.

Winners were as follows: High, Mrs. Ken Wright; second high, Mrs. Harry Simmonds; low, Mrs. Jack Selzer. Two hidden scores were won by Mrs. Adam Velker and Mrs. M. A. Bettin.

MADDEN MURMURS

Mr. Jack Irwin of the A.P. elevator had the misfortune of stepping on a rusty nail, which accident has temporarily placed him on crutches.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick King motored to Edmonton where Mrs. King will officiate in her capacity as delegate to the Home and School convention.

Clarice Clayholt spent the weekend with her parents. Clarice is employed in the post office at Stettler.

Seeding is underway in our district with plenty of moisture to start the growth of grasses and grains.

JEAN SIMMONS, recently the bride of Stewart Granger, joined her husband on "location" during filming of "Soldiers Three", in which Granger is starred. There's a possibility the happy couple will be co-starred in the not too distant future.

The LIGHTER SIDE

Fair Enough

"I've got a rather distasteful job," remarked the British generalist. "A woman employed me to look up her family tree, and I've got to inform her that one of her relatives was electrocuted for murder in America."

"I shouldn't worry about that," replied his friend. "Just write that the man occupied the chair of applied electricity at one of America's public institutions."

Gentle Hint

Peter was playing at Jimmy Brown's house. When it was time to go home it started to rain. Mrs. Brown offered to lend him Jimmy's raincoat.

"Don't take so much trouble, Mrs. Brown," said Peter, politely. "I'm sure your mother would do as much for Jimmy," she replied.

"My mother would do more," said Peter. "She'd ask Jimmy to stay for supper."

Nobody

The amateur burglar, stumbling into the bedroom, knocked over a chair with a crash, awakening the nervous householder, who asked:

"Who's there?"

"Nobody," said the intruder softly.

"Who else?" pursued the alarmed gentleman.

"Only the cat. You forgot to put it out."

It Worked

"I've decided on a name for baby," said the young mother. "I shall call her Nanette."

Her husband thought it was an awful name to give a girl, but being a wise and tactful fellow, he did not object.

"Splendid," he said, cheerfully. "The first girl I ever loved was called Nanette, and the name will revive pleasant memories!"

There was a brief silence, then: "We'll call her Mary, after my mother," said the young wife firmly.

LETTER TO LOUISA

Wife Wants Privilege Of Choosing Own Clothes

Dear Louisa—My husband is very critical of my clothes. Before I buy a hat or dress I have to bring them home for his approval, or he doesn't like it one bit.

Some of the things he likes I can't abide, so I go around wearing unbecoming clothes just to please him.

Don't you think I should have the privilege of choosing my own clothes?

WIFE

Answer:

I think every woman and every man should have the right to choose her or his clothes and enjoy wearing what they like. Most of us like to wear clothes that our better-halves like, but if it comes to the place where we have to wear something we dislike or something he doesn't care for, then I feel sure that the choice should lie with the person wearing the clothes.

This is a funny old world and the male population seems to be divided up into just two parts — those who pay no attention to their wives' clothes and those who pay too much attention to them. The wives of each set complain, so I suppose it is about six of one and half a dozen of the other.

Try to strike a happy medium with your clothes and get things that you both like.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa—I have a wife who talks too much. She chatters incessantly and never says anything of importance. All the time I am reading or listening to the radio, she is asking questions or shouting some gossip at me.

What can I do to slow her down without hurting her feelings?

"MERE MAN."

Answer:

You probably see lots of people during the day and by the time night comes, you have heard all the news and exchanged views with half a dozen people.

Your wife, on the other hand, has been busy at home all day with no one to talk with and only the babies for company. Consequently, by the time you come in she is all set for a nice chatty evening, while all you are looking for is peace and rest for a worried mind.

The best solution to such a problem, I think, is for you to make it a plan to devote part of the evening to her and claim a part for yourself. Don't grab the paper or turn on the radio the minute you get in the house. Tell her the news and listen to what she has to say. Let her know that you want to read the paper and hear your favorite programs, but that you are also interested in her.

You probably found her vivacity one of her main attractions before you were married so naturally she thinks you still enjoy some lively conversation. And if she turned grumpy on you now and kept quiet all of the time, you would no doubt miss her talkativeness.

Try to get together on this problem by putting yourself in the other fellow's shoes.

LOUISA.

Canada's Census to Mark Changes In Agriculture

In the 1951 Census of Agriculture, which will be taken in June, enumerators will gather statistical data from farmers throughout Canada which will be used in measuring the changes that have occurred in Canadian agriculture since the last all-Canada census in 1941.

The data will also be used to establish a new base or "benchmark" for the annual estimates of field and forage crops published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

As in the past, census enumerators will visit each individual farmer to assist in the completion of the census schedule. The Bureau will make provision for farmers to obtain advance copies of the schedule. This will enable farmers to fill in as much of the information as possible before the enumerator calls, thus saving the time of both farmers and enumerators.

Due mainly to the opening to settlement and later development of the prairie lands there has been a sharp increase in the acreage devoted to field crops in Canada in the past 50 years, according to census data and annual acreage estimates. The Census of 1901 placed the area under field crops at 19,800,000 acres. By 1941 the figure had risen to 55,800,000 acres, and in 1950 the estimated total was in the close neighborhood of 62,000,000 acres.

Acreage devoted to wheat showed the most significant gain in actual area, rising from 4,225,000 in 1900 to 21,950,000 in 1941, and an estimated total of 27,021,000 in 1950. Oats increased from 5,368,000 in 1900 to 12,276,000 in 1941, and 11,575,000 in 1950. U of A Support Drive For Federal Aid to Education

Campaign for federal grants to Canadian universities is being supported by the University of Alberta, President Andrew Stewart said this week.

But even if the university is successful in getting a grant from the federal government it does not mean there will be a reduction in the new higher fees, he warned.

Tuition fees were recently boosted 20 per cent at U of A. Boost will give the university about $100,000 additional income, the president said.

The boost was made with reluctance, he added, but he could not promise a reduction in fees if a grant comes through.

Average student tuition at the university is about $180.

"We're very interested in federal aid to education," Prof. Stewart said, "and we're supporting the national conference in its campaign for federal assistance."

The University of Alberta is relatively well off in comparison to some universities, he said.

Rising costs may make it necessary to keep the fee hikes in effect even if a grant comes through.

It will probably be some time before a permanent scheme for federal aid is developed.

OIL MAKES A COUNTRY STRONG

"SURE...I WAS HERE WHEN IT STARTED!"

You can bet Jimmie was on hand when the first Imperial drilling crew turned up at the farm gate. And he's been an untiring fence post superintendent ever since. But that's not all—in his short lifetime he's lived enough years to see the growth of a new major industry.

Less than five years ago Canada's oil producing industry was far from robust. Our oil fields were dwindling and produced only one barrel in every 10 we used.

Today only eight countries in the world are known to have larger oil reserves than Canada. And production this year is expected to meet about one-third of our needs.

Every barrel of this "home grown" crude lessens our dependence on other countries and brings us a step closer to self-sufficiency in oil. With oil increasingly important to our daily life in peace or war, any improvement in security of supply means new security for Jimmie and for all of us.

Canada's newest major industry gives promise of becoming one of her greatest.
